There Is No Such Thing As “Case Law” – Sheriff Brigades Of ...

By William Taylor Reil. The Founding Fathers who wrote the founding documents of both the States and the United States of America knew nothing of “case law”. They were well-educated men and were learned in the law.

This tab is for documents sent to me from my frequent guest and Constitutional Scholar, William Taylor Reil. He has been studying the Constitution for 25 years. All documents are his opinion alone. My website is merely a “parking” lot for them.
