Check out the tab on my website with Bill's name on it. He has put some of his info on there. And if I could get him to stop procrastinating and put more of his info up there, I'd do it. Bill and I both like to procrastinate; it gives us something to do.

Bill is my resident Constitutional Scholar. We had a bad connection today so I am doubtful you can hear much of what he said, but try it anyway.

Doreen Hannes guest hosts for me and her guest is Henry Lamb. He has been a freedom fighter fighting against UN Agenda 21 sustainable development for a very long time.

Freedom21 is the manifestation of the belief that American society operates best when it is founded upon these principles:

1. People have inherent, natural, unalienable rights to life, liberty, property, and the pursuit of happiness – the foundations of sovereignty.
2. Governments exist expressly to protect these rights.
3. Governments derive power from the consent of the governed, to protect these rights.
4. Public policies which constrain people's rights must be enacted only by representatives elected by the people.
5. Constitutionally limited government is the best form of government.
6. That government is best which governs least.
7. No foreign government shall supersede the authority of the government of the United States of America.

Janna Legg joins me to discuss UN Agenda 21 and her fight against it. What boulders and jagged edges line our path to “sustainability”? Are their cliffs ahead and blind curves? Of course, UN Agenda 21 is the route you will be forced to take to your new plantation. Green really is the new red.

June 21st Fred Kelly Grant

<http://www.trademarkamerica.org/1.html>

Fred Kelly Grant JD joins me again to continue our discussion on property rights and how they are being assaulted everywhere you look by the enviro-commies trying to take your property from you. And it IS your property, not theirs. There is no “collective” here. You have an unalienable right to your property and the sooner the useful idiots wearing the uniform of the Globalists find that out, the better off they'll be because I'm guessing eventually the patience of the American Patriot will run out.

Fred Kelly Grant JD joins me to discuss property rights and "coordination". The "coordination process" as directed by Congress is simply that: a process by which local government and federal agencies are to meet in a government to government dialogue in order to attempt to reach consistency between federal plans and actions and local plans and policies.

Congress has directed every federal agency to engage in that government to government process with local governments. Find out how this can work to your benefit. Listen in.
